Innovative Higher Education

Volume 22, Number 1, Fall 1997

Editors' Page 3

Kay Herr Gillespie and Ronald D. Simpson

Partnerships

Once and Future Partners: The State and Its University 5

Katharine C. Lyall

A discussion of the need to reinvent the partnership between states and their universities and the proposal of a four-step plan for doing so

Collaborative Teaching in the Face of Productivity Concerns: The Dispersed Team Model 19

Elizabeth A. McDaniel and Guy C. Colarulli

Models of faculty collaboration as enhancement to coherence in the undergraduate experience; a new model offered to address goals, costs, and quality

Utilizing Summative Evaluation Through External Peer Review of Teaching 37

Jere W. Morehead and Peter J. Shedd

Examination of the dichotomy between summative and formative evaluation of teaching with suggestion for a new model utilizing colleagues from other campuses for external review, leaving internal review primarily for formative purposes

Classroom Strategies That Facilitate Transfer of Learning to the Workplace 45

Brenda S. Gardner and Sharon J. Korth

Discussion of a theoretical framework and educational process for transferring learning from the classroom to work situations

NGTA and IGTA Training and Experience: Comparisons Between Self-Ratings and Undergraduate Student Evaluations 61

Darla J. Twale, David M. Shannon, and Matthew S. Moore

Comparisons of math and science native and international graduate teaching assistants on student evaluations and self-ratings of teaching effectiveness

Innovative Higher Education

Volume 22, Number 2, Winter 1997

Editor's Page 81

Kay Herr Gillespie

Perspectives on values and ethics

Accommodating College Students with Learning Disabilities: How Much is Enough? 85

Sally S. Scott

Recommendations for the active and informed participation of faculty in determining reasonable accommodations for college students with learning disabilities

When a Trial Threatens to Merge Small Universities: The Role of Litigation Public Relations in a Federal Desegregation Case 101

J. Dale Thorn

An examination of an unprecedented desegregation case heard in a 1994 federal district court trial in Mississippi and the ethical dilemmas associated with this trial within the context of litigation public relations

Triggering Discussions on Ethics and Values: Cases and Innovative Case Variations 117

Linc. Fisch

Use of cases to generate effective discussions on ethics and values and practical suggestions for variations in design and presentation to increase their impact

Identifying Lurking Alligators: An Essay on the Ethical Dimensions of Faculty Development 135

Anita Gandolfo

Consideration of the ethical dimensions of the work of faculty development and discussion of the application of accepted professional ethical principles to this work

Innovative Higher Education

Volume 22, Number 3, Spring 1998

Editor's Page 153
Ronald D. Simpson
Teaching as a Scholarly Activity

Systematic Mentoring for New Faculty Teachers and Graduate Teaching Assistants 157
Peg Boyle and Bob Boice
Empirical assessment of two programs resulting in a clear, replicable model of systematic mentoring

Professional Development How To's: Strategies for Surveying Faculty Preferences 181
Christine B. Eleser and Sheila W. Chauvin
A survey and results providing higher education professionals with a useful design for implementing goals through specific activities while showing the faculty that their interests and goals are truly important

The Department as Double Agent: The Call for Department Change and Renewal 203
Mimi Wolverton, Walter H. Gmelch, and Dean Sorenson
Teamwork, teaching, quality, and leadership as ways to mitigate obstacles to department change and renewal and, at the same time, to enhance it

A Comparison of the Nontraditional Students' Experience on Traditional Versus Nontraditional College Campuses 217
Jean M. Lynch and Cathy Bishop-Clark
An analysis of differences in nontraditional students' experiences, depending on whether they are attending a traditional campus or one with significant age diversity

Teaching Teams: Creating the Context for Faculty Action Research 231
Elizabeth Bondy and Dorene Ross
A description of how teaching teams can provide a context which supports action research by faculty

The Urban University: An Opportunity for Renewal in Higher Education 251
Mary H. Mundt
Renewal of the urban mission as a hopeful agenda for future reform in light of the rich history of partnership between urban universities and their communities

Innovative Higher Education

Volume 22, Number 4, Summer 1998

Editor's Page 267
Ronald D. Simpson
The Overwhelming Nature of Higher Education

Infusing Multicultural Education: A Process of Creating Organizational Change at the College Level 271
Talmadge C. Guy, Judith C. Reiff, and Jenny Penney Oliver
The infusion of multiculturalism in a College of Education, involving long-term, multifaceted, and permanent changes to organizational culture

Innovative Team Building Practices for Professionals: Developing Inter-Group Skills to Enhance Effective Performance 291
Mark D. Baldwin and Joseph F. Keating
The co-curricular development of team and inter-group skills as a required part of a professional program

havingproblems@cm.com: new ways to miss the point 311
Mike Davis and Margaret E. Holt
International goodwill and technological ease no assurance for the successful formation and operation of groups in cyberspace

Guest Reviewers, 1997-98 329